

We already have people calling us anywhere between 5 to 15 times a day. And we have already started to not answer the phone any more because the same few people call all day long. We are sick and tired of having to screen our own incoming calls as it is. If you want to change anything it should be to make it harder for these telemarketers to get through to us. You shouldn't be making it any easier for them. Why won't you help us consumers instead of making it harder for us. We like to see this law grow tougher. Thank you for listening.
